War Over Europe Rages

STETTIN AND BERLIN BOMBED IN NIGHT

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The air war over Europe raged ceaselessly today when Allied fighter-bombers swept out over the channel after night bombers returned from a forceful attack on the German port city of Stettin and new thrusts at Berlin, western Germany and France.

Strong formations of fighter-bombers shuttled back and forth across the channel despite overcast weather conditions. At intervals, multiple explosions were heard from the French side of the channel. Heavyweight bombers of the Royal Air Force struck almost 600 miles inside Germany to lose a heavy assault on Stettin, vital industrial city which serves as the port of Berlin.

Nazi Capital Hit
The Nazi capital was hit for the second successive night by speedy Mosquito bombers which also blasted targets in western Germany and northern France.

An estimate by the London Evening Standard said that at least 1,000 tons of bombs were dropped on all of Germany during the night. The R. A. F. lost 15 heavyweight bombers in the assault on Stettin which is situated near the mouth of the Oder river 84 miles northeast of Berlin.

Both the port and town of Stettin were heavily attacked by the British fliers who were aided in their assault by bright moonlight.

The air ministry communique said that first reports indicated the bombing assault was well concentrated.

While some Mosquito forces hit Berlin others attacked unidentified objectives in western Germany. Northern France also was kept under assault.

About 300 Planes Attack
Although there were no official figures on the number of planes participating or the tonnage of bombs dropped, expert observers estimated that somewhere around 300 (Continued On Page Twelve)

U. S. PILOTS HAVE SUPPLIED CHINA

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

A UNITED STATES AIRBASE ON THE INDIA-BURMA FRONTIER, Jan. 6.—Rugged American fliers who for 22 months have been herding their slow cargo planes over Japanese territory and the towering Himalayas between China and India—China's aerial lifeline—received well-deserved kudos today.

The story of the men who "fly the hump" in all sort of weather, carrying the material for American forces in China and equipment for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's battling armies, was made public by U. S. authorities.

Worst Flying Route
The 550 miles between bases in northeastern India and China constitute the world's worst flying route, with monsoons, terrific winds, zero ceilings and the menace of Japanese attack, together with jagged Himalayan peaks, combining to make hump flying a perilous job.

It is this vital supply artery, requiring pilots to push their transport planes at 18,000 foot altitudes, which for 22 months has solely maintained isolated China in the war.

In that period, more freight has moved over the Himalayas than all domestic American airlines carried before the war, and more pilots are used in carrying it than were employed by those same airlines back in peacetime.

More military materiel is reaching China.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt disclosed today that by international agreement, the petroleum resources of the entire earth will be thrown open to "fair and equal access" by all nations after the war.

At the same time, the chief executive held forth no hope there will be more ample supplies of gasoline for domestic civilian use for the duration of the war.

"All available supplies of petroleum products will be required for a speedy and complete victory of the United Nations over the enemy," Mr. Roosevelt declared.

Lend-Lease Report
The president's disclosures were made in an exhaustive thirteen report on lend-lease operations transmitted to congress.

Other salient highlights of the report included:
1. An intimation of the early invasion of German-occupied Europe from the west in the disclosure of a gigantic increase in shipments of munitions to England.

2. The United States has sent Russia nearly 7,000 fighting planes, more than 3,500 tanks and 195,000 motor vehicles of all kinds.

3. The United States intends holding on to airfields which it has constructed throughout the world until there is a final postwar settlement.

'Bouncing Betty' Is Chief Menace

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The chief menace to the American army's advance up the Italian peninsula to Rome was revealed today as the "bouncing Betty"—an ingenious land mine.

Colonel William R. Blakely, infantry, of Laurens, S. C., reported to the war department that "bouncing Betty" is the name the Yanks have given to the Nazi's S-mine.

Shaped like a tin can, the mine has three small metal prongs showing above the ground. When one of them is jarred, a small explosive charge is detonated hurling the mine, about five feet in the air. At this level the mine goes off sending hundreds of small metal balls to the four winds.

IN ACTION IN SWEDEN
STOCKHOLM, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Anti-aircraft guns in southern Sweden roared into action twice in the early hours this morning as "great numbers" of Allied warplanes flew over the region.

The guns fired for one hour beginning at 2:30 a. m. and again at 5:15 a. m.
One RAF bomber made a forced landing in the area and burst into flames soon after touching the ground. The crew, composed of seven Canadians, was saved and one flier told authorities they were en route back to Britain after bombing Stettin.

YANKS FIGHTING WITH BAYONET

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Jan. 6.—The Allied Fifth Army in Italy today pressed a large-scale offensive against the Nazi-held bastion of San Vittore and battled the Germans in the streets of the town blocking the road to Cassino and Rome.

The American and British troops under command of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark smashed into the streets of San Vittore after launching an attack along a 10-mile front.

Front dispatches said that American troops already had seized half of San Vittore at bayonet point.

Offensive Under Way
The offensive got under way after Gen. Clark's forces seized heights dominating San Vittore which the Germans had transformed into one of the most heavily fortified points of the most heavily fortified points along the so-called winter line.

The fifth army in the San Vittore battle area scored a general advance of a mile in fierce fighting in mountain country.

Invader aircraft laid down a blistering strafing barrage to cut a swath into enemy lines in advance of the fifth army march.

The invaders flew sortie after sortie to blast out heavily defended gun positions and pave the way for a continued advance by the American and British troops.

The allied planes swooped down on the enemy lines at almost zero altitude at speeds of 300 miles an hour and zoomed between mountain passes to take their targets.

REDS IN POLAND PERIL NAZIS

With Soviet armies across the 1939 Polish border at Olevsk and headed along the Kiev-Warsaw railroad for the 1941 border from which the German invasion began as indicated by the map (1) other major disasters now face the Nazis. Of immediate importance (2) is a pincers move which has already netted Novograd-Volynski and aims at Berdichev and Vinnytsa. These are all intersection points on great East-West railroad and highway trunk lines and, in an effort to cut off communication lines, the Reds are particularly interested in Vinnytsa where, indicated by a star, is located the main line railway from Odessa to the Polish border. Incidentally the Polish border crossing already has had political repercussions in London where old "government in exile" leaders are raising their voices.

STIFF RESISTANCE BEING ENCOUNTERED

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 6.—United States Marines employing tanks, and covered by strong artillery fire, were reported making good progress today in an assault aimed at Jap-held Borgen Bay, six miles southeast of captured Cape Gloucester, on New Britain Island.

Stiff Resistance
The marines who landed on both sides of Cape Gloucester and swiftly overran the airfield there, battled against the stiffest Nipponese resistance yet encountered in the drive on Borgen Bay, a communique from headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur said.

The march on Borgen Bay was begun by marine units which effected a landing on the east side of Cape Gloucester and these leathernecks were augmented by units which went ashore at Taulai on the west side and now have joined their strength with the main unit. Forces which were retained in the Cape Gloucester area meanwhile expanded the airfield perimeter in their hands, Gen. MacArthur's communique said.

Allied airmen supported the push on Borgen Bay with bombing and strafing assaults against the Japs.

Jap Counter-Attack

The Japs hurled a fresh counter-attack at marine positions at Sili-mati point which were repulsed.

U. S. May Break With Argentina

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The United States and other allied American governments are understood today to have considered the possibility of severing diplomatic relations with Argentina.

No decision has been reached as yet to resort to such drastic action, and there is some doubt in diplomatic circles in Washington as to whether the Pan-American nations will go so far.

However, the fact that the possibility of such a move has been discussed is considered evidence of the grave crisis which is developing in relations between Argentina and the other Pan-American republics.

Russian Forces Push Deeper Into Pre-War Poland

Drive Threatens To Topple
All German Defenses In Lower Ukraine

PERIL TO LARGE NAZI FORCE GROWS

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 6.—Powerful Russian tank and infantry forces driving relentlessly beyond captured Berdichev and deep into pre-war Poland threatened today to topple all German defenses in the lower Ukraine.

Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's First Ukrainian army fanned out in all directions—from northwest to south—from the Kiev area to greatly increase the peril of entrapment to 1,000,000 German battalions in Lower Russia.

One column was said to be well beyond the pre-1939 Polish frontier, having attained the honor of being the first Russian force to expel German troops from the soil of Mother Russia since the war began.

Drive Toward Sarny
(Stockholm dispatches to the London Daily Express quoted a Soviet commentator as saying Cossack spearheads of Vatutin's force had penetrated "deep into the Polish Ukraine toward the town of Sarny." This place is situated 35 miles west of the old frontier.)

Berdichev, former headquarters of German Field Marshal Fritz Von Manstein and situated some 85 miles northeast of the Romanian border, fell to large tank and infantry forces which beat down stubborn enemy resistance in five days of the fiercest fighting.

Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin, in another of his now-familiar order of the day, announced capture of the vital rail junction. He said the prize which he termed a "large railroad junction and a powerful center of enemy defense" fell to a "storming assault" of the Russians.

Stubborn Resistance
Later, the official midnight communique told of the action which resulted in capitulation of the city which guarded main lines of escape for the embattled Germans within the Dnieper Bend.

element that will guarantee their use for both strategic and commercial purposes under a system of "general military security" in which the interest of both the United States and other United Nations are fully protected.

Totals $18,608,553,000

4 Lend-lease aid through last Nov. 30 amounted to $18,608,553,000. Of this amount $10,355,820,000 was furnished in the first 11 months of 1943. Sixty-one per cent of the $10,355,820,000 figure represented munitions.

The coming year will be a year of decisive action in the war, the president declared. "The United Nations enter the new year stronger and more firmly united than ever before."

"Germany and Japan will both soon learn that to their sorrow."

Revealing the international petroleum arrangement, the president said:

"After the war the nations of the world, including the United States, will require petroleum to maintain their industrialized economies. Discoveries of new oil fields will undoubtedly be made to supplement known oil reserves, and as in the past, the steady development of technological improvements in oil production will make it possible to draw on oil reserves which cannot now be tapped."

"Nevertheless, as in the case of other natural resources, some nations will have insufficient oil reserves to meet their petroleum requirements. Others will have a surplus."

Equal Access

"Agreed action by the nations of the world, as provided for in the master lend-lease agreements, for the expansion of production, the elimination of discriminatory treatment in commerce, and the reduction of trade barriers, will assure the United States and other nations fair and equal access to the petroleum produced in all parts of the world."

The president dampened any hopes for increased supplies of civilian motor fuel during the war by asserting:

"The over-all petroleum war needs of the United Nations in 1944 will rise above what they are now as the magnitude of our offensive increases. Additional supplies of petroleum products from other areas will not therefore result in reducing the demands on our own petroleum resources."

Pressing an early cross-channel invasion, the president disclosed that "there has been a sharp increase in the exports of munitions to the United Kingdom." Of a total of $3,402,411,000 in lend-lease shipments to the United Kingdom in the ten months through October, $1,646,672,000 were munitions, or 48 per cent.

were completed in 1942. Originally America started the war with seven carriers but lost four in action.

What Shall We Do?

"What shall we do with this power when the war is over?" Forrestal asked.

"Shall we destroy it as we did a quarter of our combatant tonnage in 1925 and go back to bed for another 20 years until another lunatic hits us on the nose and reminds us life is still not entirely an idyll of roses and charm, and that while, for the good of our souls, we need to believe in permanent peace as an ultimate ideal, in the meantime there may be some ruffians to curb?"

Forrestal praised the speech made November 25 in London by the prime minister of South Africa in which he declared that peace was obtainable only if guaranteed by the power of nations who want peace.

Forrestal commented:

"Naturally, he included the United States as one of those nations, and I would like to add to this remark my own conviction that far into the future our own national security must have as its first foundation the maintenance of the great sea and air power the U. S. Navy is now in the process of building."

advantageous strongpoints at the approaches of the town, offered stubborn resistance.

"After many days of violent fighting, out infantrymen and troops broke into the town. Simultaneously, other units increased pressure on the German flanks."

The Russians who stormed the town had to ford the Gnilopyat river and oust the Germans from the city in violent hand-to-hand street battles. "Heavy losses" were inflicted on the enemy both within Berdichev and on its approaches.

4000 Enemy Troops Lost

Approximately 4,000 enemy troops were wiped out in a single day of fighting, as the Russians pushed on to take more than 60 other inhabited places.

One rushing column of Vatul-in's army pushing southeast captured Belaya Tserkov, captured Taraschka.

This represented a 30 mile advance from Belaya Tserkov, capture of which was announced by 24 hours earlier. Also taken was Kivchinka, 37 miles south of Belaya Tserkov. Both these advances presented an increasing threat to the Germans to the south and southeast.

That the Nazi high command may have launched at attempt to extricate these embattled forces by sea was seen in the midnight announcement which told of the sinking of a 3,000-ton enemy transport and damaging of another in the Black Sea.

Approximately 500 miles north of Vatul's army, the first Baltic army smashed forward above Nevel toward Latvia, overcoming more than 90 additional towns and villages.

Gen. Ivan Bagraman's force drove to within 40 miles of the old Latvian frontier. The Germans sought frantically to prevent a breakthrough.

Close Range Battling

After reaching other fortifications of San Vittore the Yanks in Gen. Clark's army plunged thru minefields and crushed machine-gun nests to come to grips at close range with the Nazis. They tossed hand grenades into the enemy ranks and then slashed at the German defenders with their bayonets.

The general assault on San Vittore was loosed Wednesday morning in the darkness before dawn. Before noon the fifth controlled the first half of the village.

The Germans fought back ferociously and house-to-house struggles began. Pillboxes placed at strategic points had to be crushed and the attacking fifth army troops were combated by well-placed snipers and had to overcome booby traps blocking the streets.

The attack was launched on the 10-mile front despite sleet and rain. The line runs from west of Rocca to west of Venafro.

Latest information concerning the battle for San Vittore where virtually every house has been turned into a pillbox said that the German strongpoints in the village are being knocked out "one by one."

The Nips also loosed four night air assaults against the American positions which caused only light casualties.

In the Arava area on the southwest shore of New Britain, troops of the American Sixth army engaged the Japanese in sharp patrol clashes outside the defensive perimeter set up on the Arava peninsula. An offensive raid on American positions after dark was reported.

Other units of Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth army in New Guinea engaged in extensive patrol action in the Saldor area and penetrated inland and along the north coast.

Japs Bomb Shipping

Nine Jap bombers, escorted by fighters, made an attack on Allied shipping in the Saldor area, and two bombers and three fighters were shot down by Allied interception planes. One Allied craft was lost after dark several minor Jap air raids were carried out in the area Gen. MacArthur reported.

Advance elements of Australian ground forces in the Sio area made their way meanwhile to the vicinity of Cape King William.

In all air actions reported in the communique the Japs lost at least 16 bombers and fighters.

Successful strikes were made against Jap shipping. A cruiser was damaged by a direct hit off New Hanover Island, in the vicinity of Kavieng, New Ireland. Two cargo ships, one of 4,000 tons and the second of 2,000 tons, exploded and burst into flames when both medium and heavy Allied aircraft, battered shipping in the harbor of Kupang on Timor Island and the Netherlands East Indies. An escort vessel alongside the cargo ships was damaged by direct hits.

strenuous aerial action caused a number of enemy ammunition dumps to explode and numerous fires were started in the battle area.

Close Range Battling

After reaching other fortifications of San Vittore the Yanks in Gen. Clark's army plunged thru minefields and crushed machine-gun nests to come to grips at close range with the Nazis. They tossed hand grenades into the enemy ranks and then slashed at the German defenders with their bayonets.

The general assault on San Vittore was loosed Wednesday morning in the darkness before dawn. Before noon the fifth controlled the first half of the village.

The Germans fought back ferociously and house-to-house struggles began. Pillboxes placed at strategic points had to be crushed and the attacking fifth army troops were combated by well-placed snipers and had to overcome booby traps blocking the streets.

The attack was launched on the 10-mile front despite sleet and rain. The line runs from west of Rocca to west of Venafro.

Latest information concerning the battle for San Vittore where virtually every house has been turned into a pillbox said that the German strongpoints in the village are being knocked out "one by one."

Germans Battle Desperately

While the assault centered on San Vittore other units of bold sides of the road to Cassino rioped at the German defenses. The Germans strove desperately to prevent a major break-through toward Cassino.

S. OF D. SOCIETY MEETS AT CHURCH

S. of D. Society of the Central Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening at the church when a letter of acknowledgement from Mrs. Francis H. Scott, former missionary to Hunan province, China, now returned to this country, was read.

Three years ago the society had forwarded to Mrs. Scott the sum of $8.08 to be used at her discretion. In her reply, which had been many months in the way, she told how the money had been converted into $124 Chinese dollars, a sum sufficient to send a boy orphaned by the war through one semester of school.

Thus the sum of $8.08 clothed, fed and schooled one child for one entire semester. The letter from Mrs. Scott was read by Mrs. Oscar Rhodes.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott are now back in the United States, in North Carolina. They and their family were evacuated from the war-torn province in China by air through India.

Mrs. William Corvey was the leader of the meeting. National topic was given by Mrs. Mont Forney and foreign topic by Mrs. Carl Holmes.

It was planned to continue sewing for mission hospitals overseas. For this purpose the society will meet at the church on January 13 when a tureen dinner will be served at noon.

THE Story Of Famous Diamonds

The Diamond That Has Shared In the Course of World Events!

NASSAK DIAMOND

Like the Orloff, the Nassak Diamond originated in India and was a votive offering to the goddess Siva, in a temple near Bombay. When the English took over that part of India, this stone passed into the hands of the Marquis of Hastings, leader of the army. A few years later it was purchased and mounted in the hilt of his sword. Recently it was acquired by Manboushin, the celebrated Parisian jewelry firm where it has been on exhibition. The Nassak is a diamond of perfect brilliancy weighing 78 carats.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CALM MOTHER HELPS BABY DEVELOP

As I said before, in this column, a granddaughter lived in our home last summer during her 14th, 15th, and 16 months, when I enjoyed and observed her. Except for a few brief teething periods, I think I never heard her cry or whine as long as half a minute at a stretch. During her waking hours she would smile when she looked at her and talked to her.

She has been a healthy child, with ideal sleep habits and other good routines and is pretty well trained in the meaning of No. Yet thousands of very healthy babies cry and whine over every little bump or frustration. I have a notion the quiet, patient, playful manner in which the calm mother treated this little tyke has been a big factor. Then the radio was always silent, except for some quiet music, while this youngster was awake.

Carefully protecting this baby as well as possible none of us expressed concern over her bumps. She was in her early stages of walking then and was rather cautious, so that she fell easily and gracefully. Did you ever notice how softly a baby falls when left alone? She doesn't have far to fall and the whole body relaxes on the way down.

Brief Crying Spells

More recently, during my visit to this baby's home in her 18th month, I observed her taking more chances now get two rather severe bumps which brought violent but brief crying. Each time the mother picked up the big teddy bear and bumped his head saying, "Poor Bear is crying too!" after which the child burst suddenly from tears to smiles.

I noticed that the mother and grandmother were constantly talking playfully and carelessly to this child while they bathed and cared for her. Habitual crying by many babies often occurs in connection with these cares, and the vexation expressed in crying is especially hazardous to cultivating nursery chair cooperation. Well, this little tyke has never yet developed whining and crying in these connections.

Baby Amuses Herself

On that visit, I also observed that this baby has greatly gained in ability to amuse herself for longer and longer periods. When she was left with me one afternoon, I put her in her play pen while I answered letters from "worried mothers." For almost an hour she played contentedly there near me. I paused now and then to talk to her and suggest some new amusement.

I was impressed with her growth in concentration on pictures while I read to her, over that of a few months earlier. She had learned to turn the pages of a beautiful book carefully. Of course, this growth in concentration and carefulness did not come all at once. There has been continual, affectionate, patient guidance.

Let no mother not so successful in these directions feel discouraged. She may be going very well in other ways. Some mothers, too, have more cares and worries than this mother. Anyway, children differ widely by nature in their degree of cheerfulness and mothers in their native aptitude for cultivating it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Suppose your child 10, 14 or 16 complains to you that no other children are restricted in their privileges as she or he is.

A. Let the child air his grievances without your interrupting him or arguing with him. Having made up your mind on what is best for your child's physical and moral safety, announce it clearly just once with the attitude or statement that it is none of your business what other parents do. The trouble is that so many parents are as scared as rabbits when their children remind them of what other parents allow their children to do.

Animal Crackers

By FRANK NEIL
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

A pair of billygoats got the goat of Sam Selser, contractor of Columbus, O., while Sam was building a house for the animals. They climbed into his automobile and licked his windshield clean of auto license sticker. "A" and "C" gasoline stamps and the federal use tag, which is what made Sammy run to his ration board for new stamps!

The city zoo at Hershey Park, Pa., has been converted into a chicken and duck farm because 28 of the 30 employees entered the armed forces or quit for defense jobs. Lack of meat to feed the animals prompted officials to sell or give away the animals to other zoos around the nation.

Mascot of an infantry company at Fort Benning, Ga., was captured while soldiers were demonstrating the art and science of warfare from fox-holes. Interfering with maneuvers, the animal flitted from fox-hole to fox-hole. Caught with a boot trap, and named "Nub," the critter today is the pride of the regiment.

That's right, it's a genuine fox!

Seven baby Muscovy ducks belonging to the A. H. Linaker, Manhattan Beach, Calif., were born bearing prominent black "V" for victory markings in the center of their yellow foreheads. And a mongrel mascot of the 69th Squadron at Elgin Field, Fla., was born with natural coral stripes across his back. The pup received G. I. rations and typhoid shot, and was given regular Army dog-tags.

Seventy people died because warning fuses broke when a fireman stumbled and fell. Isn't there an obvious lesson in that?

NOT AWARE

Q.—Why do you want a new car?
A.—It's the only way I can get five new tires.

Q.—Are you aware of the restrictions?
A.—No, but I knew something was all wrong. I called up several auto salesmen yesterday and in no case did a salesman show up at my home inside of five minutes.

One of the major problems the Republican presidential candidate will have to be to gag the most vocal of his well-meaning but foolish friends.

The preacher was delivering his Sunday morning sermon. Suddenly he observed his young son in the gallery, throwing peanuts into the congregation. The father stopped, looked severely at the boy, but the boy said, "You never mind me, dad, go right ahead with your preaching. I'll keep them awake."

And that reminds us what they used to say about preachers' boys—"the meanest kids in town." That perhaps was not true. Folks naturally expected too much from the minister's son, and when he had a good time with the rest of the boys he was very much talked about.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I took a woman to luncheon today.

Young, attractive, charming, well dressed and very bright.

But she bored me. Terribly.

We were sitting at the Ritz (yes, she was that kind of a person), and before she ordered her food she made sure that she was in a spot where she could be seen to best advantage.

The headwaiter stood at her side, poised with pad and pencil, to take her order.

Help is scarce these days, you know, and business is heavy.

Did that faze her? Not in the least.

A bit of lipstick, a dab at her collar, a cigarette held to be lighted.

Then, nonchalantly: "Oh, I don't know what to order. I'm not a bit hungry."

She compromised on some guinea hen, a pot of tea, and unless she changed her mind, a strawberry parfait for dessert.

Then we settled down to a nice long talk (she is known for a brilliant conversationalist).

I listened. I listened patiently.

Finally I yawned and she asked, "What's the matter?" she asked, and seemed somewhat annoyed.

"Are you bored?"

"Frankly I am," I said.

"Why?"

"You haven't been talking about anything but yourself," I replied, "and with so many important things going on in this world, to be perfectly truthful I'm not particularly interested in your housekeeper's sayings. I'm not even terribly worried about you going all over town and not being able to find a radio."

To make a long story short—we ate in comparative silence after that, and when we parted, we knew that we'd have another luncheon together again.

I never have that experience with men and women tell me they usually have a good time with other women.

It is really true that men and women can't be friends. Is it true that when you take away sex there isn't much that men and women have to interest each other?

I really don't know. Maybe you do.

But I do know that whenever I go out with women they are so damn personal—they always talk about people including themselves never about things.

Men do talk about things—often nice things, such as women.

If you don't agree with me, ladies, why don't you give me a ring for luncheon the next time you're in the neighborhood?

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON: Gen. Douglas MacArthur (quoted in an AFL release)—"Labor never has failed the army or the nation. May God bless you all for your splendid patriotism."

WASHINGTON: Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R) Neb., western director for the Republican National committee, who proposes that potential GOP presidential candidates "exhibit themselves" throughout the country. "We must elect a president. It is not enough to elect a majority of the House or a majority of the Senate. The only way to end the New Deal is to elect President Roosevelt."

CHICAGO: Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher: "I really think that Hitler will come to terms if only we give our air force the time to smash Germany and German production."

CHICAGO: Dr. Hans Kohn, International authority on modern Europe: "The removal of Tojo and Hitler will not solve the problem of what shall be done with Japan and Germany. Their aggressions are not accidental, but are deeply rooted in the mentality of traditions of both nations."

CANNED FOOD
Quite a few of our canned foods are valuable principally for their vitamins. They do not supply much nourishment. If the vitamins are lost, all is lost.

Perhaps the vitamins lost their strength pretty fast after the can is opened.

Small cans probably are better, so that the entire contents may be eaten right away and not kept over for a later meal.

It is a pretty good rule to eat foods as soon as possible after they are prepared. Warmmed over foods are usually not so good.

Fruits and vegetables should be eaten as soon as possible after the skin is broken.

They should be washed clean with the skin on. Many of them should be eaten skin and all.

Bible Thought
Christ speaks of My Church only once, only twice of The church. The church is a instrument of God and is called by divine love. Unimmaculately useful, but membership is an opportunity for co-operative usefulness; it is not a club in which membership guarantees salvation in this or a future life. My Church—Matt. 16:18.

Americans still have good sense. A poll proved the great majority favored letting the Army alone handle the Patton case.

Inside Washington

Lobbyists And Winnings Ways Exposed
Frown On Second Front Guessing Now
Congressmen Should Vote As They Like

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—We in Washington who like to think we are so astute are sometimes gullible. We are particularly gullible if, in any way, we touch the fringe of official life.

And we never—well, almost never—recognize a lobbyist if he is a graceful party giver. Lobbying for or against a certain government measure is often carried off successfully with the aid of party giving for the official group and its fringes.

We who have lived in Washington longer than a fortnight know in our own hearts that the lobbyist is the one who should look many parties fiercely in the face and ask, "Why is this being done for me? Why am I here?"

I don't mean that there aren't many charming dinners, lunches and receptions given for no reason except for the pleasure of having friends and amusing people about one's own hearstir.

I do mean, however, that there are about 739,326 and one-quarter parties given annually (for a reason, "It is in the failure to recognize the reason" that one phase of our gullibility lies. Or maybe the word isn't gullibility. It is "vanity.")

We are so vain that we can say to ourselves, "Senator and Mr. Catfish and Secretary and Mrs. Old-Fashioned are here because the host thinks they will be useful in some way. But you and I, dear, are here because we are so fascinating. Nobody would try to wangle anything from us with a Scotch and soda or a black market steak."

Thereupon we eat and drink and bribe—find it very tasty, and thereafter become easy pickings for the lobbying host. If you don't like the word "lobbying" call it "influencing." But don't fail to call it or recognize it. For it exists in the capital and follows its course as determined by the Potomac flows to the bay. And it digs its channel deep and wide while a war is on.

I'm glad personally that "military authorities in Washington and London have become dissatisfied with the widespread discussions over when, where and how an invasion of Europe will be launched."

Such talk has always seemed both silly and dangerous to me. Of course, I don't think for an instant that anybody will tell purposely the truth of the when, where and how of the Second Front.

But a kindergarten could see that constant guessing does not add to the secrecy of military movements. Indeed, if the guessing were good it might reveal a truth that should be kept hidden.

If I were a member of congress during this frantic year I would vote exactly as my own conscience and my own thought directed me, and let the chips fall where they may. If there ever was a time in the history of this nation when courage political as well as personal was needed it is now.

So if I were a member of congress, I'd not be influenced by pressure groups. Pressure groups is a new name for lobbyist. Or for lobbying done in the grand manner. Sometimes to a patriotic tune.

I'd try, if I were a member of congress, to try with all my strength not to be hampered by my own political party wanted me to do. I'd vote the way I honestly thought I should.

Then if I were defeated on my next election day I'd say that while my sons and other young men were offering their lives to the world struggle I had contributed the best I had to offer—honesty and courage.

Maybe I wouldn't be defeated if I offered complete honesty and courage to my constituents. But if I were defeated I'd go back home and practice law or edit a paper or run a hardware store and find out what the United States I'd almost forgotten about in Washington is really like.

At the moment neither the United States nor England is in a position to say much to the contrary. Russia is the only allied country that is making much progress in Europe, insofar as the liberation of captive peoples is concerned. Russia's mission in the war appears to be almost accomplished. Ours hasn't yet begun, or at least it hasn't enough headway to warrant our attempting to dictate the terms of European peace.

The subject is one that has to be approached with caution in diplomatic circles. The United States cannot press Russia too strongly about the future of the Baltic States or Poland without running the risk of having to answer some emotional questions about Britain's attitude toward India. Britain can't even less. Insofar as we are concerned, our skirts are clean on this issue, since we had given the Poles assurance of their freedom long before the war began. The Pacific and that is the only territory in which we are involved in a war.

As the situation now stands it appears that Russia holds the upper hand, and Stalin appears equally determined to play it, kindly if possible, forcefully, if necessary, but determinedly at all costs. And there is nothing that either the United States or England can do about it. We have talked a marvelous war, but Russia is on the threshold of victory.

The World and the Mud Puddles

"WE" AND RUSSIA

The great controversy now raging in official and unofficial circles in Washington and London is over the extent to which the liberated countries of Europe will be allowed to select the particular type of government that most appeals to them after the war. Several contradictory statements have been issued in the last few days, centering chiefly around what was or what was not decided at the recent Moscow conference.

The contradiction in the statements appears to arise from the difficulty the British and American governments are having in coming to what extent Russia will co-operating with their viewpoint.

In that connection it might be said to canvass the situation and to give a few of the elementary facts.

In the first place, no European country has yet been liberated. Italy and the British armies are in Italy and they are experiencing tough going. Despite the Moscow assurances that Italian are to be given their choice of government, they can't do anything about it until the Germans are out, and the task of removing them isn't proceeding with much speed. Germany still occupies Poland, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Greece, Albania and all the other countries she has seized. The Russians are nearer their goal than we are, and they are making better progress toward achieving it. And that is the reason we have much to do with explaining their reluctance to agree to some of the generous promises the American and British governments are making.

At the rate the Russians are going, they will not be long until they will have kicked the Germans out of the three Baltic States of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, as well as eastern Poland. Most of the contradictions of United Nations policy have arisen over the Baltic States and Poland.

The first step being that they would be included in the Potsdam agreement on self-determination of the post-war type of government of the peoples involved. Now, however, it appears that Russia's position has been misinterpreted. Russia seems to disregard the Baltic States entirely, having annexed them prior to Hitler's attack upon the Soviet Union. They are regarded as part of Russia, not as separate countries to be liberated.

Poland is something else. That unhappy country, the plight of which led England to declare war, was divided by Germany and Russia while they were linked together in a pact which had encountered Hitler's refusal to defuse England, Russia, and Poland. The first half of Poland as part of Russia, not as an independent entity, is the Russian position on self-determination of government. In other words, it is all right with Russia if and when we liberate any of the countries for us to let them select their government, but Russia considers these areas as already a part of Russia.

At the moment neither the United States nor England is in a position to say much to the contrary. Russia is the only allied country that is making much progress in Europe, insofar as the liberation of captive peoples is concerned. Russia's mission in the war appears to be almost accomplished. Ours hasn't yet begun, or at least it hasn't enough headway to warrant our attempting to dictate the terms of European peace.

Says White House Decides All Major Questions In U. S.

MILFORD, Ill., Jan. 6.—(INS)—Rep. Jessie Sumner (R.), who first was elected to Congress from the 18th Illinois district in 1938, said today she would not be a candidate for re-election this fall.

"The United States today is merely going through the motions of having a republic," she declared. "Practically all the major questions of policy now are decided by the White House rather than by Congress."

"I shall have served six years. I consider that a reasonable length of time for me to serve. I am not politically ambitious."

Twenty German Officers Reported As Being Shot

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Twenty officers in the German garrison at Warsaw, Poland, were reported today to have been shot within the last fortnight for "plotting against the security of the state."

The Daily Telegraph, in a Berlin dispatch, described the German officers as ranking from lieutenant to lieutenant colonel.

The officers were understood to have been in contact, by secret channels, with former comrades who now are members of the anti-Nazi German National committee in Moscow.

Halt Expansion Of Steel Plants

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Two Carnegie Illinois Steel plants in the area today were under orders from the War Production Board to halt construction of plant units because the additional steel is no longer needed in the war effort.

The projects were ordered halted at Munhall and Braddock. The order also affected two Carnegie-Indiana plants at Chicago and Gary, Ind. The four units were valued at $1,658,000.

The projects were facilities for converting open hearth steel into alloy and other high quality steels which now can be supplied in adequate quantity by existing facilities.

SHARPSVILLE SEEKS PROBE OF FURNACE SALE TO HETZ CO.

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 6.—(INS)—U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey (D), Pennsylvania, will be asked by the Sharpsville town council to investigate the recent sale of the Pittsburgh Coke & Iron company's Sharpsville furnace to the Hetz Construction Co.

Council took action after the Hetz company asked a reduction in real estate taxes. The company reported it had paid $47,500 for the furnace. "Is it possible," asked Burgess George Mahoney, "that Pittsburgh Coke would spend $200,000 on rebuilding the furnace less than three months ago, and then sell the plant for $47,500?"

Income Tax Office In New Quarters

Move To Rooms Formerly Occupied by Marine Recruiting And Farm Security Office

Office of the deputy internal revenue collector here was moved this week from the rooms formerly occupied on the second floor of the Post Office building to larger and more commodious quarters.

The income tax office is now located in rooms 201 and 203, formerly occupied by the Farm Security Administration office and U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting office, giving them additional space, which will be badly needed as local residents begin filing their 1944 income tax returns between now and March 15.

The Marine Recruiting office and Farm Security office have been moved around the corridor on the second floor to the rooms vacated by the Income Tax office and another office room.

This will make the Income Tax office a little more accessible to the public as well as providing more room for the staff.

Local residents are beginning to receive their return blanks and are urged to file their returns as quickly as possible in order to avoid the last minute rush, which will occur later.

ADMINISTRATION TO BATTLE FOR SUBSIDIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—High administration officials were reported today to be determined to resist congressional moves for any compromise of the subsidy fight which involves abandonment of the "roll back" subsidy for meat and butter.

This attitude, reported to congressional leaders, dampened hopes for a compromise with the result that the new Congress may open with a big battle over cost of living.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The war food administration in effect denied charges today that the government is "hoarding" food and allowing large quantities to spoil in storage.

In a three-page statement on food stocks, answering criticism leveled at the agency by an office of defense transportation spokesman, WFA said:

"Since the beginning of the lend-lease program in March, 1941, to December 1, 1943, WFA losses due to stoppage amounted to two one-hundredths of one per cent of total purchases, equivalent to a loss of less than $1 on every $5,000 of purchases."

Meantime, congressional disapproval over handling of the food program broke forth in an assertion from Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., that he may ask for an investigation by Congress when it reconvenes.

WFA's statement came as the Senate post-war committee called a public hearing for tomorrow to hear government food officials on the charges of food spoilage.

The hearing was called at the request of Sen. O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., chairman of a special subcommittee studying disposition of huge stocks of government surpluses both during and after the war.

If you give generously, people think you rich; then you get no credit, for they think it doesn't hurt you.

"THOUSANDS CHEER"

W.F.A. Denies Food Hoarding Charges

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The war food administration in effect denied charges today that the government is "hoarding" food and allowing large quantities to spoil in storage.

In a three-page statement on food stocks, answering criticism leveled at the agency by an office of defense transportation spokesman, WFA said:

"Since the beginning of the lend-lease program in March, 1941, to December 1, 1943, WFA losses due to stoppage amounted to two one-hundredths of one per cent of total purchases, equivalent to a loss of less than $1 on every $5,000 of purchases."

Meantime, congressional disapproval over handling of the food program broke forth in an assertion from Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., that he may ask for an investigation by Congress when it reconvenes.

WFA's statement came as the Senate post-war committee called a public hearing for tomorrow to hear government food officials on the charges of food spoilage.

The hearing was called at the request of Sen. O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., chairman of a special subcommittee studying disposition of huge stocks of government surpluses both during and after the war.

If you give generously, people think you rich; then you get no credit, for they think it doesn't hurt you.

RECORD QUAKE SHOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Fordham university officials today reported that the university seismograph recorded two fairly severe earthquake shocks yesterday, centered about 10,000 miles from New York in the direction of the Dutch East Indies.

The first shock was registered at 5:32.

More than 3,000,000 books have been sent to United States soldiers overseas.

Council Adopts Tax Rate Bill

Council met today in city hall and upon motion by Safety Director D. O. Davies adopted the 1944 tax rate bill, which sets the tax millage at 13 mills, one more mill than was charged in 1943. The tax is divided as follows: for general revenue purposes, 11 mills; for sinking fund, 1½ mills and free library ½ mill.

Charge Best Farms Given Japanese

Accusation Made At Protest Meeting In Colorado By Farmers Of State

DENVER, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Northeast Colorado farmers charged today that "some nationwide organization" is fostering the entrenchment of relocated west coast Japanese-American farmers on "the best farm lands in Colorado's best irrigated farming districts."

The accusation came as leaders of agricultural communities in Weld, Larimer and Morgan counties joined in a protest laid before Gov. John C. Vivian by a delegation of 11 farmers from the area surrounding Brighton, 17 miles north of Denver.

The mayor of Brighton, Dr. J.
W. Wells, who led the delegation calling on the governor, reported that 26 prize farm tracts of Adams county had been transferred from ownership by caucasians to ownership by Japanese-Americans within the past six months. Leaders in other districts said the influx of Jap farm buyers was so great elsewhere throughout the fertile irrigated sections.

All the farmers reported the Japanese purchases had been made at
"fabulous prices—usually $500 to $1,000 over and above the normal asking price." Frank MacIn, a leader in the Adams County Vegetable Growers Association, said:

"Price is no object to these Japs.
They have all the money they need.
They must be getting their money from some big nationwide organization."

Pupils' Strike To Force Retention Of Teacher Fails

MARENGO, Ill., Jan. 6.—(INS)— Pupils at the Marengo community high school, who struck because of what they believed the forced resignation of a popular faculty member, decided to return to their classes.

Originally they had declared they would continue their strike until the teacher, David Colcord, former Indiana, Pa., State Teachers college instructor, was reinstated.
About one-third of the 225 pupils left their classes Monday.

Colcord met with them last night, however, and advised them it would be in the "best interest" of all for them to go back to their studies.
He added he didn't want the job back anyway.

Colcord resigned before the holidays when school authorities questioned his grading methods after he had given all 28 students in his speech class an "A" for the semester.

PRICE CEILING VIOLATED

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—(INS)—
Arthur Segatti, 62, a Pen Argyl wholesale and retail meat dealer, was fined $1,000 today by Federal Judge Guy K. Bard for selling beef over the OPA ceiling prices.

Segatti also was given a suspended sentence of 15 days and was placed on probation for one year.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

NO. 4
PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS

The principle of the income tax is to distribute taxes according to the relative ability of different persons to pay. Therefore, every taxpayer is granted a personal exemption, which is deducted from his income
before computing the tax.

For the regular income tax, the exemption on 1943 income is $500 for a single person and $1,200 for married persons living with husband or wife, and for other heads of families. For the victory tax, the exemption is $624, regardless of whether married or single.

The $500 exemption for single persons applies not only to unmarried men and women but also to widows, widowers, divorcees, and also to married persons who are separated by mutual consent. However, married couples who are only tempo-rally apart—as in the case of soldiers and their wives—are considered "living together" and entitled to the exemption of married persons living with husband or wife.

The $1,200 exemption for married persons is the total exemption for a man and wife, regardless of whether they have separate income or whether they file separate or joint returns. The $1,200 exemption may be taken on the return of either the husband or the wife, or divided between them in any proportion they desire if they file separate returns on the long Form 1040.

A similar exemption of $1,200 is granted to others who qualify under the definition of a "head of family" for tax purposes—for instance, single persons supporting aged parents, widows or widowers supporting minor children.

Different methods of claiming these exemptions are provided in the two forms of tax returns—the short Form 1040A and the long Form 1040.
On the short Form 1040A, you go directly to the amount of exemption. Instead, you need only check in one of the boxes (at the top of the back page) which expresses your family status (single, married, etc.) on July 1, 1943. Below these boxes is a table of taxes, divided into three columns. The form will show you which column to use according to which family status box you checked. In this manner you receive the benefit of the personal exemption, and your regular income tax can be found without any computation.

On the long Form 1040, you must show not only the amount of the exemption you claim, but also for how many months of the year you were single or married, or otherwise a "head of family." On this form, persons whose status changes during the year are required to prorate their exemption accordingly. For instance, a couple who were married after three-fourths of the year had gone by would each be entitled to three-fourths of a single person's exemption (9-12 of $500) and together would also be entitled to one-fourth of a married couple's exemption (3-12 of $1,200). If a married person dies during the year, his personal exemption is prorated for the period up to the date of death, and the surviving wife or husband is considered "single" for the rest of the year, unless she or he remarries or is entitled to the status of "head of family."

In the case of the $624 victory tax exemption, the amount must be entered on both forms but is not affected by family status or by death. For any return reporting the income of only one person (either single or married, and including joint returns upon which either the husband or wife has no income), the exemption is a flat $624 in all cases. For any joint return in which both the husband and wife each report more than $624 income, each is entitled to $624 exemption, or a total of $1,248. For joint returns in which either the husband or the wife has income which is less than $624, they should add the amount of the smaller income and $624, and enter the total on their return. In this last instance, suppose a husband had $1,000 income and his wife $200;
their joint victory tax exemption will be $624 plus $200, or a total of $824.

If you are in doubt about the correct amount of your personal exemption, advice may be obtained readily from the office of the nearest collector of internal revenue.

Asserts Production Has Been Increased

Soil Conservation Chief Says Practices Of Agency Have Aided Crops

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)— Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the soil conservation service, asserted today that practices of his agency have increased by 20 per cent the production of corn, soybeans, wheat and other critical war crops on 54 million acres of land.

In his annual report to War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, Bennett further revealed that food output on another 63 million acres was boosted through contouring and strip-cropping during the past two years.

"More than a third of America's six million farms have been enrolled by their operators in the national soil conservation program," Bennett reported.

"Two and a half million farms are now within the nearly 1,000 farmer-organized and farmer-directed soil districts in 45 states."

The work of these districts, the SCS chief said, accounting for 553 million acres of farmland, "has contributed substantially to the record food and fibre production of the last two years."

Stabilization of the nation's topsoil has been achieved on 10 per cent of the farmland, according to the report. The plow-up of millions of acres of unsuitable soil during World War I which led to the "dustbowl" area, is not likely to be repeated on an extensive scale this time, the report said.

At various times the state of Florida has been under the ruling of four different countries, England,
France, Spain and the United States.

HELPFUL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

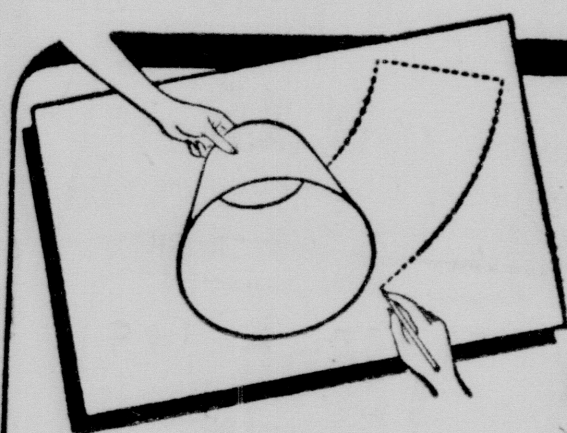

CARE WILL SAVE YOUR VACUUM CLEANER

The appearance of your home, even the health of your family, may depend upon keeping your vacuum cleaner on the job. Vacuum cleaners are not being made today and repair parts are hard to get.

TO KEEP CLEANER FIT—FOLLOW THESE SUGGESTIONS

- 1 Empty the dust bag after each cleaning. Once a month, turn the bag inside out and give it a good brushing.
- 2 Don't run cleaner over pins, hairpins, and other metal objects. They can puncture the bag or damage motor.
- 3 Keep brush free of oil, dirt, hairs, and threads.
- 4 Adjust nozzle and brush. Brush should touch carpet and should extend 1/8" below lips of the nozzle.
- 5 Oil vacuum cleaner according to manufacturer's instructions.
- 6 Don't jerk cord from wall outlet. When not in use, wind cord loosely around hooks on cleaner handle.
- 7 Use your attachments if you have them.
- 8 If cleaner does not operate properly consult your dealer.

How to reline a lamp shade

Roll your own. Lighting benefits can be noticeably increased by relining existing dark-on-the-inside shades with good white paper. Roll the lamp shade on white paper, and pencil mark to cut. Fit this lining inside the shade and fasten seam with Scotch tape.

OTHER WAYS TO CONSERVE LIGHT

- 1 Clean lamp bulbs and reflectors (unlighted) regularly with a damp cloth.
- 2 Use shades with white linings that reflect light instead of absorbing it.
- 3 Keep all lights properly shaded to avoid glare.
- 4 Arrange furniture so one lamp serves two or more people.
- 5 Always turn off lights in unoccupied rooms.
- 6 Have eyes examined regularly by a competent eye specialist.

Six Foot Nine Inch Man Is Taken By Merchant Marine

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—There have been a lot of stories so far about the young fellows who ate bananas to fatten up, or stretched themselves to gain an extra inch to get into the armed services but the latest today is the one about the six-foot nine-inch giant who "shrank" an inch to get into the merchant marine.

Five times, William A. Sackel, Jr., 21, of Buchanan, N. Y., was rejected by the merchant marines as being too tall. Finally a sympathetic recruiting officer got Washington to waive the six-foot four-inch limit, and Sackel enlisted as an apprentice seaman.

However, he was listed officially as six foot eight. Perhaps, said a medical officer, the fact that we measured him in his stocking feet had something to do with the shrinkage.

Asthma Mucus Loosened First Day

Choking, gasping, wheezing, recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma ruin your sleep because you can't get air in and out of your lungs properly. But now it is no longer necessary to suffer from these terrible attacks without the benefit you may receive from a physician's prescription called Mendaco. Within a very short time after the first dose, Mendaco ingredients start circulating thru the blood, thus reaching the smallest as well as the largest Bronchial tubes where they usually quickly help liquefy, loosen and remove thick, sticky mucus (phlegm), thereby promoting freer breathing and more peaceful sleep. In fact, Mendaco has proved so successful in helping thousands of sufferers from recurring spasms of Bronchial Asthma that it is sold under a guarantee of money back unless completely satisfactory. So get Mendaco today from your druggist for only 60c.

Jesus Busy With His Ministry Of Love
Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Healing of the leper.

"We must work the works of Him that sent Me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work."—John 9:4.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Sunday school lesson on the above topic for Jan. 9 is Mark 2:23-2:14, the Golden Text being John 9:4. "We must work the works of Him who sent Me, while it is day: the night cometh when no man can work.")

TODAY'S LESSON tells us of Jesus' ministry of love in healing the poor sick and afflicted people who, hearing of His miracles, flocked to Him. His infinite tenderness and compassion make the telling of these acts one of the loveliest passages in all scripture.

In our last lesson, you remember we left Jesus and His followers at the temple, where Jesus had been preaching "as one having authority." In the synagogue there was a man possessed of an evil spirit. The spirit which filled the man cried out to Jesus, saying, "Let us alone; what have we to do with Thee. Thou Jesus of Nazareth? art Thou come to destroy us? I know Thee who Thou art, the Holy One of God."

Jesus answered sternly, "Hold thy peace, and come out of him." The unclean spirit came out, tearing his poor victim as he came that is putting him into a convulsion.

Witnesses Amazed
All who witnessed this were amazed saying, "what is this thing? what new doctrine is this?" Jesus' fame began to spread everywhere, but He came out of the synagogue and went to the home of Simon Peter and Andrew, with James and John. Here He found Simon's wife's mother sick with a fever, and He went to her, took her by the hand, lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her, and arising, she waited upon them all.

That evening the poor people flocked to the house, bringing their sick and possessed members. And He healed many. In the morning, however, Jesus rose very early, and going to a solitary place outside the city of Capernaum, where these deeds were performed, prayed alone to God. His disciples and others followed Him, however, and when they found Him they told Him many were looking for Him. Jesus said, "Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also." And Mark tells us that "he preached in their synagogues throughout all Galilee."

Among them a poor outcast a leper came to Him, pleading with Him, and "kneeling down to Him, and saying unto Him, 'If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean.'" Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth His hand, and touched him, and said unto him, "I will be thou clean." A leper in an advanced stage of the disease is a loathsome sight, but Jesus touched the man with His hand, so great was His sympathy toward him.

As soon as the Lord had spoken the leprosy left the man and he was clean and whole. Jesus told him to tell no one, but he could not keep the miracle to himself, but went out and blazed the news abroad so that Jesus could not enter the city for the crowds of curious, who sought Him. So He went to the desert places outside the town, but still people came to Him from every quarter.

Jesus Preaches To Them

After some days Jesus again came to Capernaum, but when it was known that He was in the house, people gathered in crowds so that the house was full, and He preached the word to them. But four men carried on his bed a friend who was desperately sick with palsy. Not being able to enter the house where Jesus was, they climbed up on the roof, made a hole in the same and let the bed with the sick man on it, down into the room. If you look at pictures of the houses of this type in Palestine you will see that it can easily be done.

When Jesus saw their faith He said to the sick man, "Son, thy sins be forgiven thee." Whereat those around murmured and said, "Why doth this man thus speak blasphemies? who can forgive sins but God?" Jesus perceived what they were thinking and saying and asked them why they thought this. "Is it easier to say Thy sins be forgiven thee or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk?"

"But that ye may know that the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (He said) to the sick of the palsy, 'I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house.' And the man immediately did so, and all were amazed."

Jesus then went again to the seaside and multitudes again followed Him and He taught them. As He passed by the place where people were made to pay their taxes to their Roman conquerors, He saw Levi (known to us as Matthew) and said to him, "Follow Me." And the man arose and followed Him. This man, employed by the Romans to gather taxes from his countrymen, was hated by the Jews, but when he saw Jesus' face and heard His voice, he gladly left the job that must have been hateful to him, although it might have made him rich in money and goods, and followed his Master.

Farmers Of State Meet January 18-20

Several Thousand Farmers To Gather At State Capital To Discuss Production Goals

By JOHN PAGET
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Several thousand farmers representing the state's agricultural industry will meet at Harrisburg January 18-20 to discuss wartime food production goals during the 28th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst said the 1944 sessions would be confined to inspection of wartime food utilization plans and would lack the colorful farm exhibits that marked exhibitions in other years and made the show famous throughout the nation.

Gov. Edward Martin and S. W. Fletcher, dean of the School of Agriculture at Pennsylvania State College, will address representatives of 18 farm organizations January 18. Other scheduled speakers during the three-day meeting included Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr., W. R. Gordon, Penn State rural sociologist, and Horst, chairman of the farm show commission.

Horst said the primary purpose of the "wartime farm week" was to unite state, county and local farm groups and the department in an effort to obtain maximum food and feed production during the year. The speaker's panel includes officials of federal farm agencies.

"We anticipate that several thousand farmers will attend these wartime farm week meetings called by 18 state-wide agricultural organizations," Horst declared. "It is the hope of the farm show commission that all farm people of the state will receive incentives and encouragement in their desire to provide food that will help win the war."

Horst said the state defense council will explain the value of the victory garden program while Penn State Agricultural College officials will outline plans of the experimental station and farm extension service. The departments of Welfare and Public Instruction will also cooperate in urging farm education teachers and institution supervisors to attend the meeting.

Farm organizations will discuss conservation, ceiling prices, the wartime shortage of animal feed, dairy problems, selective cattle breeding, irrigation and land reclamation, and farmer cooperatives in the postwar era.

Opposition To Any Prohibition Move

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Congressional opposition to any form of national prohibition "while the boys are overseas" indicated an early death today for the Bryson bill which would ban intoxicants until the last troops are demobilized.

Several House members interested in the legislation which comes up next week before a House judiciary subcommittee branded the proposal of Rep. Bryson (D-S. C.) as "totally unfair" as long as men in the armed forces are unable to vote upon it.

They condemned the bill on a second count as technically improper legislation for Congress to consider. Any prohibition law, they said, should only be sought by constitutional amendment subject to state ratification—as in the case of the 18th amendment.

Bryson's draft estimated it had received 4,000 "dry" petitions during at least 225,000 signatures favoring the legislation. The bill introduced last March, would prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of alcoholic beverages containing more than 1/2 of one percent of alcohol by volume.

Janice Graham To Be Questioned

Special State Probe Of Triple Slaying Near Mercer Now In Progress

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 6.—(INS)—Janice Graham, hired girl on the Everett Wilson farm, and Dr. J. W. Emery of Mercer, deputy Mercer county coroner who investigated the triple-slaying, were scheduled for questioning today by Special Assistant Attorney General Harry A. Estep.

Special investigator Estep reported that Mercer county officials and a Sharon newspaper reporter testified to him of "voluntary" confessions. William A. Morell made to them in the county jail of having committed the Wilson farm slayings last October 7.

The first "confession," Estep said was made Saturday, October 9, to former sheriff Alex Elliott and William P. McDowell, a Sharon newspaper reporter.

"According to Elliott and Deputy Fred Cubbison," Estep added, "Morell repeated his voluntary confession before his trial three or four times without being asked."

The farm hand repudiated the "confessions" at his trial last month by pleading not guilty to murder by charging Miss Graham with all three killings. Morell was acquitted in the deaths of Mrs. Catherine Wilson, 78, and Robert McKay, 61, and convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the death of Mrs. Helen Wilson, 46.

Governor Edison Has Voting Plan

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—(INS)—Gov. Charles Edison of New Jersey offered a simplified plan by which absentee balloting of service men would be handled by the states, reducing federal participation to a minimum.

Governor Edison insisted that any proposal that members of the armed forces be restricted to voting only for candidates seeking posts in Washington is "repugnant." His plan, by which postal cards would be distributed through the secretary of war and secretary of the navy, returnable to the adjutant generals of the various states, would in no way interfere with the rights of each state to determine the validity of the ballots cast, Edison claimed.

AROUND CITY HALL
"We're going to urge Safety First for the next four years," Mayor John F. Haven stated today. "Police will urge it in all ways. I don't like sporadic campaigns. I believe education is the best way to teach safety. Fines are alright but the loss of a driver's license for speeding is more effective," he stated today.

One of the problems of city dads is the occupational or personal tax. They're going to collect it and therefore no one should have an idea contrary. The city paps believe that if the pair engaged (Jim Mayberry and Paul Marakasi) do it systematically the city treasury will be fattened $70,000 worth.

When Mr. Koehler died the estate passed to Mrs. Thayer. When the time for reviving the note was nearly passed Mr. Swornen filed and asked judgment. Mrs. Thayer was ill and service of the filing could not be had upon her. The note now becomes a claim against the estate if it is upheld. The arguments Wednesday morning were on the validity of the affidavit of defense filed by counsel for the Thayer estate.

Pittsburgh Mayor Enthuses Over Postwar Aviation

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Every flat-topped building an airport was Mayor Cornelius D. Scully's enthusiastic dream, expressed on Wednesday at a public utility commission hearing on a taxicab company's proposal to establish helicopter service in Pittsburgh.

Scully testified for the Yellow Cab company, on its application for establishment of the aerial service, with one reservation. "I do not under any circumstances," he said, "want the Yellow

Cab company to have an exclusive franchise."

Paul L. Houston, cab company president, told the commission he proposed to create a call-and-demand service from Pittsburgh's golden triangle to any point in Allegheny county, possibly using the cab company's existing telephone and call-box system.

State Senator John M. Walker, representing the Harmony Short Bus line, opposed the application. Scully's enthusiasm, Walker declared, did not make him an expert witness.

Resume Efforts To Settle Rail Wage Dispute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Officials of 18 railroad brotherhoods reassembled in Washington today to resume efforts aimed at settlement of the prolonged rail wage controversy and return of the nation's carriers to private operation.

The "cooling off" period of the past week was counted upon to stimulate attempts to break the deadlock which developed co-incidental with the year-end strike threat and government seizure of the railroads.

However, it may be another week or two before the rail dispute can be cleared up and the army permitted to step out of the picture in view of the re-entrance into the non-operating union case of a special presidential wage board. The panel probably will have to conduct new hearings.

The commonly called "chicken hawk" which is really the red-tailed hawk, is actually beneficial, as its principal food consists of mice, chipmunks, and gophers.

Says More Goods To Be Available

STATE COLLEGE, Jan. 6.—More materials for non-military goods will be available in 1944 than at any time since the war started, the bureau of business research at the Pennsylvania State college reported today, in issuing a series of business forecasts for the new year.

The research bureau, which is directed by George L. Leffler, professor of economics, based its predictions on a 15-year study of Pennsylvania business and industry, with especial emphasis on the findings of the year 1943.

Pointing out that the steel industry is now making ample steel for all war needs and requires only governmental approval for conversion of large portions of its expanded production to civilian uses, the bureau looks for this industry to lead the way in increased consumer goods production.

No expansion is looked for in industrial activity since the peak achieved in 1943 while retail trade, which exhausted most of its reserves during 1943's record-breaking activity, will lack the merchandise to equal last year's totals. Factory payrolls are expected to rise somewhat during the year.

"Cost of living," the bureau warns, "will start off the year on a stable basis, but is in danger of sharp up-sweeps unless the government acts with courage and firmness against the powerful pressure groups now trying to break existing price controls."

"Employment," the bureau adds, "will be stable since any workers discharged because of war contract cancellations or cut-backs will find jobs in industries converted to peacetime production."

At one time recently 25 million gallons of blackstrap molasses was stored in Dominican Republic.

THREE FLIERS KILLED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Three army air force pilots, all stationed at Mitchell Field, N. Y., were killed Wednesday when their small Beechcraft transport plane crashed and broke into flames in a vacant lot in southeast Washington.

The victims were identified as Lt. Col. R. W. Hale, pilot, of Washington, D. C.; Capt. Walter R. Johnson, of Chicago, and Capt. Robert L. Gattardi, of R. F. D. No. 2, Gibsoria, Pa.

Brown is the most frequent color of the eyes of animals. Tigers, leopards and panthers are all green-eyed, however.

REPORT $51,223 PERSONAL TAX NOT COLLECTED

Delinquent Occupational Taxes Of Past Three Years To Be Collected

Council met this morning in city hall where it was announced that the unpaid personal, or occupational tax, for 1940-42, inclusive amounts to $51,223.56, the equivalent of one mill. Of this amount James Mayberry and Paul Marakas already have collected $320. William Kennedy, another of the personal tax collection force, has been posted in the city clerk's office to receive payments.

Council, after receiving the report, exonerated the new city treasurer of the collection of personal taxes for those years but placed the "baby in the lap" of City Solicitor Robert M. White, because his office handles delinquent tax matters.

James Mayberry and Paul Marakas are the collectors. They receive 10 per cent of each dollar collected as compensation. Mayberry told the city fathers during the meeting that in some families, the amount owed is as high as $28.

During the discussion Safety Director David O. Davies asserted that "some people pay more for cigarettes than they do in taxes" and it was opinion of council that the outstanding taxes would be collected before May.

The treasurer, B. N. Hanlon, was authorized to proceed with the collection of unpaid 1943 real estate taxes. If it is found that taxes were paid out not accredited Hanlon will be exonerated of the amount.

Revised Soldiers' Vote Bill Given

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Sen. Scott Lucas, (D) Ill., made public today details of a revised soldiers' vote bill which contains drastic restrictions against government propaganda in the 1944 presidential election.

The new provisions, including a revision of the original Taft amendment, are designed to answer the contention that the federal ballot for ten million service men was proposed as a means of garnering votes for President Roosevelt in a fourth term campaign.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers
Are Outlined Here

Frank Sargent of the city OCD today stated:

"On January 15, at 7:15 P. M., we are ordered to have all our OCD workers of all branches mobilized at their respective headquarters. They will stay mobilized until 10 p. m., to handle any incidents that may be related to their group—similar to the mobilization of December 15, 1943, which was too cold a night to do much unnecessary outside work. A report of mobilization of all groups excepting the Warden's Post, must be sent to this office, telling us of the number of people present, and of any incidents that may have been assigned to your group."

He also notified senior wardens and assistants that the mobilization also applies to your group, and for this period of mobilization, the Warden's Service including Wardens, Fire Guards and Messengers, will stand inspection. The Inspecting Officer will have in his possession, a prepared list of membership of your Post, as of the city OCD records. He will also have a list of all Federal equipment that is charged to your group. After the inspection, there will be sealed instructions for further activity, and simulated incidents to be handled.

County Hospitals Given Approval

Announcement Is Made By American College Of Surgeons For Year

Once again the hospitals of Lawrence county have met with the approval of the American College of Surgeons. In a statement released today Dr. Irvin Abell of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the Board of Regents awarded full approval to the Jameson Memorial hospital and the New Castle hospital and provisional approval to the Ellwood City. Provisional approval signifies that the hospital has accepted and is endeavoring to meet the rigid requirements of the association but for acceptable reasons has not been able to do so in every detail.

In all, 3253 hospitals of the United States were approved by the American College of Surgeons, an increase of 264 over the total approved a year ago.

In announcing the list of approvals Dr. Abell said:

"The past two war years have seen hospitals and doctors score a major triumph over disease and death under circumstances that in previous wars would have meant epidemics and a rising mortality rate. Instead, the death rate in 1942 reached an all-time low of 104 per thousand in the United States death registration area, and 97 in Canada, and the indications are that in 1943 the rate was even lower. The reasons for the improved results, despite the wartime handicaps, are plain to those members of the profession and the public who know how hard hospitals have struggled to give patients high quality care notwithstanding shortages of personnel, scarcities of supplies, and increased demands for service."

Initial plans for the coming campaign which will be county-wide in scope will be discussed and arrangements for the drive will be furthered.

Says War Profits And Contractors Will Be Revealed

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Senate Truman committee will have the names and profits of the 100 biggest war contractors in the forthcoming Senate fight over revision of the war contracts renegotiation law.

"We have the figures on the 100 biggest contractors," Sen. Truman (D) Mo., committee chairman, said today. "We will not only give their names, but we will give their profits."

Truman joined a minority of the Senate Finance committee in a battle against the most important changes proposed in the committee revision of the House-approved tax bill.

With the Senate slated to debate the tax bill next week, it appeared possible that efforts may be made to reach a compromise in the renegotiation fight.

CHARGE CONSPIRACY TO CONTROL PRICES
Two American Firms And British Company Face Justice Department Charges

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Justice Department, in an action alleging violation of the anti-trust laws, charged today that two big American firms and a British company "conspired" to control the sale and price of chemical products, firearms and ammunition.

The firms were named as the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Co. and the Remington Rand Arms Co., both American, and the Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of Great Britain.

The charge was contained in a complaint against the three concerns and their principal officers filed in the United States District Court in New York today.

TO MOVE FEBRUARY 1
Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Huston, of East Sheridan avenue, will move into their new home at 1402 Delaware avenue, about February 1. They have not yet moved, as was stated in Wednesday's News.

On Nov. 25, 1758, the site of Fort Duquesne was named "Pittsburgh" in honor of William Pitt.

Meeting Next Week To Give Appraisal Of Strength Claimed For Willkie

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Republican national committee meeting in Chicago next week—officially opening the GOP presidential campaign—is expected to determine whether there will be a "draft Dewey" drive in 1944.

A the same time, it appeared today, the discussions among national committee members and state leaders probably will give the first election year appraisal of strength claimed for Wendell Willkie, the party's defeated 1940 presidential nominee.

The prospect of a draft to place Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the White House race was heightened by action of the New York state chief executive yesterday. In his annual message to the legislature, the governor asked that the New York constitution be amended to permit the lieutenant-governor to succeed him if the governorship for any reason, should become vacant.

Some Speculation

The request gave rise to immediate speculation that Dewey might be willing to accept a draft for the Republican candidacy. The former New York prosecutor heretofore has declared himself not a candidate.

In any event, Washington looked to the Chicago meeting next Monday and Tuesday—significantly coinciding with the reconvening of Congress—to crystallize the Dewey sentiment.

Called for the purpose of selecting the time and place of the Republican convention, the meeting is the first major political get-together by either party in the campaign year.

Chicago is expected to get the convention, but what conclusions will emerge from the informal deliberations on candidates and party policy remain in the field of speculation.

The GOP meeting precedes by almost two weeks a similar Democratic national committee meeting scheduled for Washington on January 22.

To Republican leaders in Congress, it marks the opening of a fruitful political year. G. O. P. Congressional leaders, including House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, are confident they will win control of the House of Representatives in the 44th election, if further vacancies do not give them a nominal majority before November.

Martin himself is remaining in Washington for Monday's opening of the second session of the 68th Congress. But Rep. Halleck (R. Ind.), chief lieutenant and new chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, will be in Chicago for the party conference.

State chairmen and vice chairmen, invited to a national committee meeting for the first time, will confer with committee members Monday, under the G. O. P. program. Tuesday, after the national committee will act on the convention arrangements.

Will Make Demand On Bonding Company

City Controller Robert White and City Controller S. L. Lockley expect to soon make a request upon the Eagle Indemnity company, which bonded the former city and school treasurer, C. C. McKibben, to reimburse the city for the loss suffered through the embezzlement of funds by Mr. McKibben. The embezzlement amounted to approximately $31,500.

REPORT NEW LANDING

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The German Agency DNB tonight broadcast a Tokyo report that a division of Australian troops has made a new landing at Cape Gumbi on the north coast of New Guinea.

NO CESSATION OF AIR ATTACKS UPON EUROPE

planes took part and carried with them slightly less than 700 American tons of bombs.

The precise nature of the varied operations over the continent were not disclosed immediately. Usually an appreciable number of aircraft take part in night sorties against the French coast and on flights into Germany although some may be heard frequently going out in single formation. Planes sometimes are heard singly when long flights into Germany play important roles by conducting harassing assaults against France or the low countries.

95 Nazi Planes Lost

The night assaults came after a day of wide-spread assaults which included the most formidable attacks of the war by daylight on Germany and France by United States bombers and fighters.

U. S. Eighth Air Force headquarters announced that strong formation of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators blasted airfields at Bordeaux and Toul, France, and attacked the shipbuilding yards at Kiel, Germany, as well as other targets in the western Reich. The Nazi agency DNB said that the Rhineland industrial city of Dueseldorf was among the objectives. Kiel had been heavily hit by only 24 hours before.

In the course of the raids which the Quasi-Official Press Association said involved the greatest daylight assault of the whole war, the Yank airmen destroyed 95 Nazi aircraft while losing 25 heavy bombers and 12 fighters.

U. S. PILOTS HAVE SUPPLIED CHINA

ing China by aerial highway than was shipped into China by the old Burma road which wound its precarious way over the lofty mountains from Lashio, Burma, now in Japanese hands.

Started In 1942

The route was started back in March, 1942, when Brig. Gen. W. D. Old, of Uvalde, Tex., then a colonel, flew gasoline into China in anticipation of needs of Maj. Gen. Jimmie Doolittle's Tokyo raiders, the next month.

In those early days, it was a tiny force of men and planes that flew the hump. Five of Doolittle's pilots actually were shanghaied into flying transport planes back and forth. But the job continued.

Large scale operations began in December, 1942, when Brig. Gen. E. H. Alexander took command of what was officially called the India-China wing of the air transport command. New airfields were built to augment the early landing strips. The pilots who herded the big planes are a cocky outfit. No one else flies such slow jobs, unarmed, over enemy territory day in and day out.

In the last three months, 70 to 80 per cent of the pilots forced down have walked out to safety, largely through the efforts of a rescue squadron that knows its business.

The boys who fly the hump carry a wide assortment of cargoes—trucks, jeeps, blankets, clothing, bombs, guns, gasoline, cigarettes, rabbits, mice and guinea pigs, for example.

PRESIDENT ABLE TO LEAVE SICK ROOM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Gathering strength from his recent attack of influenza, President Roosevelt was able to move from his sick room into his private study today and devoted several hours to preparation of his annual state of the union message to congress.

Mr. Roosevelt was still weak from the effects of the influenza attack but apparently was well on the road to recovery but presidential secretary Stephen T. Early said it appeared unlikely that the president would hold his regular Friday news conference.

WAITED 23 YEARS

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Mrs. Susanna Kujbus doesn't get angry in a hurry. When she burns up, it's a long, slow process.

Her husband, she told Judge James L. O'Toole, left home to go to work 23 years ago—in September, 1920—and she waited for him to return until today when she decided that enough is enough. So, she filed a charge of desertion against him.

Mrs. Kujbus is the mother of six children. She was married in Germany 42 years ago.

Washington Is Concerned Over Soviet Attack

Russian Newspaper's Attack On Willkie Taken As Warning To United Nations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Official Washington viewed with deep concern today the implications of the attack by the Soviet newspaper Pravda on Wendell L. Willkie.

Pravda's attack on Willkie for his recent article questioning what Russia intended to do with the small states around her borders was interpreted in authoritative quarters as an indirect but none the less emphatic warning to the United States and Britain to keep hands off those matters.

The Pravda warning was considered particularly significant in view of the fact that the American and British governments are now actively engaged in consultations concerning the problem raised by the advance of the Soviet armies across the old borders of Poland.

Washington officials noted with interest the blunt Pravda statement that "with respect to Finland and Poland . . . it must be said that the Soviet Union will be able to get an agreement with them itself and does not need the help of Mr. Willkie."

It was feared in Washington that this statement probably was intended more for the attention of the American and British governments than for Mr. Willkie.

No Policewoman Named As Yet

Council convened this morning in city hall and received a report that the police pension board had favored the request of Mrs. Minnie P. McKibben, police-woman that she be placed on the retired and pension list, then adopted a resolution exonerating her for the service she has rendered citizens since 1924.

A copy of the resolution was ordered placed on the minutes of council and another copy to be delivered to Mrs. McKibben.

Her resignation becomes effective January 7.

So far Mayor John F. Haven has not indicated who will be named to succeed Mrs. McKibben. Several women are seeking the position. Whether or not a civil service examination will be held to obtain a new police-woman was not known today.

LT. SCHWEIKERT HOME ON LEAVE

Nineteen times Lieut. Schweikert piloted his bomber over the target and heard the bombardier yell "bombs away."

"Had he ever had any trouble?" "Well a little." The little was this: On one mission the Japs shot out his engines and he was forced down onto the sea with a land based plane. The war department wired his parents that he was "missing in action" but some time later the lieutenant turned up at his base ready to go again. Another time he had to make a forced landing but the crew walked away from the plane, which indicates a lot of skill in putting the plane down.

Guadalcanal and Munda

Most of his flying was done from bases on Guadalcanal and Munda. While he is recent over his own exploits in the air he becomes voluble about the work of the marines and the ground forces of the army. "What a job those men did," said he. "At Munda the Japs were really entrenched. They had one huge emplacement dug back in the side of a hill, with 150 feet of earth on top of the dugout. You just can't bomb out places like that for the explosives won't go down through 150 feet of dirt. But our fellows took Munda and as they did, the Japs blew the entrance to the dugout and were inside. They had air holes down to their dugout and getting them out was a job. But our fellows did it. They dug down through the earth and dropped bombs inside. That took care of the Japs."

This was the last question. "What do the men at the front think of these strikes we are having back home?"

There was no answer for a little time and then he said "things aren't too pleasant at the advanced posts. There are few recreational facilities, food isn't always regular, weather conditions are usually bad, and you sometimes have to rebuild a plane from parts salvaged from wrecked planes. But that's a part of the job. They take it in their stride."

But when bullets come through from the Japs, telling of strikes back home that's when the griping starts. Over in the South Pacific there isn't any eight-hour day, no time and a half for overtime and working conditions are just what Nature hands you.

"Our fellows are doing their job over there in a grand fashion. There's a job to do back here also. The men at the front are the folks back home have just as much responsibility as they do to win this war. That's why they gripe about strikes in plants turning out war material."

Call For Trial Of Danielle Darrieux

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The De Gaulle underground newspaper Bir Hakelm today called for the trial of Danielle Darrieux, petite French film star, on grounds of alleged collaboration with the Nazis.

Mlle. Darrieux, along with a number of other prominent French actors, actresses, publishers and politicians, is accused of disloyalty, but unlike others listed by Bir Hakelm, she presumably will be given an opportunity to defend herself when the day of French liberation comes.

British Offer Suggestions On Nazi Treatment

Man In Street Discusses Means Of Preventing Germany Starting Another War

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—In the belief that 1944 will see Germany overthrown, the British man-in-the-street is today bombarding his newspaper and his friends with his pet ideas on what should be done to prevent Germany starting another war.

Most of the schemes are weird, wonderful, and impracticable. But quite a few of them add up to something or contain the germ of a useful idea for the soldiers and statesmen who will fashion the armistice and peace.

Deprive Nazis of Air Power

Chiefly the amateur peace planners appear to feel that the main essential must be to deprive Germany of all air power and make certain she isn't given the opportunity to acquire or possess pilots, planes, ground organizations, or even meteorological stations for upwards of at least 25 years following the armistice.

They seem to be agreed that without air power Germany can never again become a menace to European peace or world peace; and even that very small percentage which thinks Germany should be handled with kid gloves doesn't include air power in its argument.

Concerning the question of air power, the armchair peace-term writers suggest, for example:

That no German national should give or receive training in aviation for 25 years; that no German national should be permitted to take a pilot's license for a similar period of years.

Total Disarmament

Glider training school and the manufacture of gliders should be forbidden; every military and commercial airplane in Germany's possession at the armistice should be destroyed; only the present Allied countries should be permitted to operate air services within Germany for 25 years, using foreign planes, foreign air and ground crews over rigidly controlled routes and using authorized stopping points.

Since most of these writers and club-debaters assume that Germany's disarmament will be total, not much stress is laid on the prevention of training in the use of aerial machine-guns, cannon, and bombs. Nonetheless, they insist every existing machine-gun, cannon and bomb must be surrendered by Germany.

When it comes to deciding what should be done with Hitler, the language is lurid. The opinion of most seems to be that Hitler will either commit suicide or be "removed" by the army in a manner which will end his usefulness.

One bright amateur believes that Hitler will go to Berchtesgaden, lock himself in his fantastic mountain-top home, and blow himself and the whole place to smithereens.

DECLARE 3,000,000 HOMELESS IN BERLIN

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Approximately three million persons in Berlin are homeless and 50 per cent of the city devastated, the Swiss newspaper National Zeitung estimated today.

The London Daily Mail relayed the report which said another 25 per cent of the city of 7,000,000 population has been damaged badly by Allied air raids. "Several square miles" have been completely wiped out, it said.

In a letter to Fred L. Rentz, president of The News, T. Sgt. W. S. Ungar, who is serving overseas in England, writes that he gets The News regularly, and that it is good to get the old home town paper, as the papers over there are only two pages in extent, and they don't have the local news such as the Service Men's Column, comics, sports page, etc., which soldiers appreciate. He tells about taking an interesting seven-day trip on furlough which he spent in Devonshire County and Torquay on the southwest coast of England, where he visited many historical spots.

Among holiday greeting cards received at The News was one from Sgt. Johnny De Joseph, well known Croton athlete, who is serving in England with a military police outfit attached to the aviation corps.

LIFE INSURANCE

Every man in America's armed forces is encouraged to take out government life insurance up to a maximum of $10,000. Why? Because the hazards of war may deprive his parents, or his wife and children of the benefit of what he would have earned had he lived. His life insurance steps in immediately to help replace the loss of his earning power.

For exactly the same reason the fathers and mothers on our "home front" need adequate life insurance too.

Let me explain the choice you have among Mutual Life's wartime "premium-savers" policies designed to give insurance protection while still leaving cash for War Bonds and Stamps. For free booklet, "What $10 a Month in Premium Can Buy Today", mail the coupon.

New Castle Opens Section 3 Race Friday Night

LOCALS SET; PLAY QUIPS DOWN VALLEY

Bridenbaughmen Post Seven Wins During Pre-Season Grind; Quint Clicking

Whipped into fine physical condition by eight pre-season engagements, New Castle high's once-defeated 'Canes start the long grind leading to the Section 3 WPIAL championship on Friday night at Aliquippa, facing a highly touted Aliquippa high combination.

Since the opening of the campaign, the locals have displayed improvement, starting with a 29-26 victory over Bessemer. In the inaugural, the Bridenbaughmen were unimpressive. The red and black clad boys, however, flashed more class in downing New Wilmington, Shenango, Kittanning, Sharon, Clairton and Youngstown East.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh probably will open the league race by sending Billy Andrews and Bob Jackson at forward; Fred Wimer at center, and Ted Lewis and Bob Preston at guards. The combination clicks smoothly and may fool opponents.

Box scores of the first eight games show that the 'Canes have rolled in 305 points for an imposing 38.1 point average and have held down the opposition to 226 markers for a 28.2 average. New Castle reached its high peak so far by registering 57 points against a lanky Youngstown East club. Clairton, defeated by a 44-40 count, managed to pile up the most points. Farrell handed the locals the lone defeat, 33-26.

Fred Wimer and Billy Andrews have paced the Ne-Ca-Hi quint in scoring. Bob Preston's shots from far out have injected another weapon into the local attack. Bob Jackson's ball handling and general all around play gladden Ted Lewis, defensive performance leaves little to be desired.

The locals rate the underdog role in view of Aliquippa's impressive string of pre-season victories and because they'll be operating at home—an important factor and a big edge in basketball.

New Castle plays its first sectional game here on January 14, entertaining tall Beaver Falls.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 6.—(INS)—Ten fatalities from football injuries occurred during the 1943 gridiron season, a survey made by Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university, disclosed today.

None of the deaths, however, was attributed to college football, nine being classified as high school game fatalities while the tenth victim was a member of an athletic club team.

It was the second death-free year for collegiate football in the 12 years in which the surveys have been made.

Sports Officials Can't Be Taxed

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—(INS)—2500 referees, umpires, judges and other officials who oversee sports events for 850 member schools of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association held a new designation today, that of "independent contractors."

The commissioner of internal revenue ruled, in a communication made public by Edmund Wicht, P. I. A. A. executive secretary, that sports officials were not "employees" of the schools by whom they are hired.

They were therefore said to be not subject to the withholdings of income tax on the remuneration paid them by members schools for their services. The ruling had been requested by the P. I. A. A.

Pull Dozen Games Out Of Fire; Loop Releases Other Data

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The American League baseball office, in releasing a potpourri of items about the 1943 season, confirmed today that the world champion New York Yankees were the tops both night and day.

Curiously, the three league clubs which play no night games at home, led the won-lost column for after-dark contests. The Yankees won seven and lost five and the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers each won eight and lost six.

The league office also reported the Yankees held a wide margin over other clubs in the junior circuit in winning games by ninth inning rallies.

The New Yorkers pulled 12 games out of the fire in the final inning while losing only four on rallies by their opponents. The Chicago White Sox, who topped the league in games won by one run, finished second and Boston third in the late rally department.

In all, during the 1943 campaign 34 games were won in the ninth inning and four games ended in 1 to 0 scores in which the single run was scored in the ninth.

Other league scrapplings: Among the hard-tack pitchers, Johnny Niekirk, with St. Louis, twice hurled two-hit ball, but lost on both occasions, in the fourth inning against Cleveland and in the ninth against Philadelphia. The White Sox was the only club which failed to get at least one homer in every league park. . . . Washington was the only team to collect more home runs in a road park than at home, homering 17 times at St. Louis as compared to nine circuit clouts in Griffith stadium.

Union township and New Wilmington tangle on Union floor. Neither team has captured a victory this season.

East Brook, seventh loop member, has an open date and takes on Zellenople in an away setto.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Staff Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The most wretched fate that could befall an erring mortal would be to have someone like Branch Rickey, the Brooklyn Dodger cogder, for a mother-in-law. Rickey's glacial sense of instant perception and unwavering zeal would, if combined with a rolling pin, result in instantaneous death.

The latest evidence Branch's capacity for suspicion is seen in his recent pronouncement (Vol. 1, No. 1, of 1944) that football, as upstart among professional sports, might replace the aged and noble game of baseball as the national pastime. In a meeting with newspapermen at his Brooklyn offices, Branch, after allowing the wheels within wheels in his head to whirl at a furious pace, calmly studied his cigar and intoned:

"Says 'Watch Football'—Baseball had better take heed or another sport—football—will take its place as the national game. Football has caught the imagination of the public and little has been done in a promotional way to protect baseball's hold on sports-minded Americans."

Branch was loathe to explain how he would go about quelling this uncalled-for disturbance in professional sport, but still he goes on record as the first baseball man to express his thoughts on his situation. And, in a long career devoted to being absolutely right twenty-

Epworths Win To Cinch Tie For Church Crown

Easily Down St. Lucy's, 40-20; J. B. Thump Rads, 42-17; U. E. F. Cops

Lagging by two points at halftime, the smooth Epworth cagers stepped on the accelerator in the last two periods to swamp St. Lucy's, 40-20, and thus assure themselves of a tie for the first half championship of the New Castle Church League. The contest was played on the Y. court Wednesday night.

With eight victories under their belts, the Epworths need one more triumph to clinch the title, provided the second place St. Lucy's, who still must play four more clashes, fail to lose.

With last night's fray, the seventh warders leaped ahead, 12-4, in the opening minutes and managed to walk off at intermission time with a 13-11 advantage. As the third quarter, the St. Lucy athletes lost their poise and soon were counted out of the battle.

Wainio dropped 15 points to top the Eps' scoring list. Reed clipped with nine. DeVidio featured for the losers.

Versatile Johnson Bronze continued its winning ways in the Industrial League by easily conquering the National Radiators, 42-17. The JB quint held the top hand from the outset.

Kendra Ace

Kendra, who parked five fielders from far out, starred for the winners. Chernyasky and Fredericks featured for the losers.

Borowicz and Miller, members of last year's New Wilmington Class B WPIAL championship team, led the United Engineering to an easy 46-11 victory over the Universal Pottery. Miller pocketed 14 points while Borowicz earned 10. Huff and Summer featured for the losers.

Harry Bassler Coast Medalist

Shoots 142 To Pace Los Angeles $12,500 Open Qualifying List

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Harry Bassler, Fox Hills professional, had the medalist honors in hand today after shooting a two-under-par 127-142 to capture first place in the qualifying event preceding the $12,500 Los Angeles golf championship.

Bassler led a field of 186 pros and amateurs who were gunning for a place in the 128-player open which begins a four-day campaign tomorrow at the Wilshire Country club.

One strike behind Bassler was San Francisco's 17-year-old Bobby Rosburg, and Eddie Nowak, Inglewood pro, with 143. Rosburg, finalist in the California state amateur at Pebble Beach last summer, carded 70-73-143 after missing a six-foot birdie putt that would have earned him a tie with Bassler.

Sports Ramblings

Sports Memoranda:—

The military bandwagon soon will be carrying another large number of local athletes to various camps throughout the states. Today, Russ Battley, the former New Castle high cager, discarded his civies for the true blue of the Navy. Mike Kulich, another 'Cane hoop specialist about a decade and a half ago and now tossing for Johnson Bronze, dons khaki on January 20. Johnny Izzo, running guard for Bridenbaugh's eleven last season, shoves off on the same date. So do Jack L. Llewellyn, ball ace, Howard D. Frew, ex-New Wilmington high basketballer, Duddy, amateur leather swinger, Dom Ruzzine, Bessemer grid-caper, and Len Gilbert, the human sports encyclopedia, only to mention a few.

While the football season ended months ago, 'tis still news that following have been awarded Ne-Ca-Hi's NC monogram in football: 43: Mike Roussos, Richard McKee, Denver Newman, Joe Joseph, Sanfilippo, Tony Razzano, Gaylord Lutz, Roscoe Williams, Johnny Robert Lengyel, Albert Germand, James Falk, John Benigas, John Gahr, Harry Liebenrofer, William Andrews, Sam Ciccone and William Oren. Joe Jordan and Don Logan, student managers. The chevron winner unanimously elected Roussos as honorary captain (Mike along disliking). Tony Razzano, now in service, was honored by being named captain.

Miscellaneous:—New York state's $10 pari-mutuel window guardians were kept quite busy last year. Fans shoved across $76,204,690 in saw-bucks. . . . The Phillies will be able to field replacements in case the power shortage gets down to rock bottom next season. The Philadelphia club's publicity bureau states, will have nine scout each, each of whom is an experienced old ball player, representing the organization of Little Johnny Rockie, 17-year-old son of the late Knute Rockie, played half back on the Campion academy team in Prairie Du Chien, Wisconsin last season.

Harridge Completes 1944 AL Schedule

Wide-Open Gaps Of Inactivity Inevitable; Cut Intersectional Trips To Three

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Major league baseball schedules this year again will have several wide-open gaps of inactivity reminiscent of last year's hedge-hopping. American League President William Harridge said today.

Harridge announced that he has completed the American League schedule except for filling in of night games and double-headers which is done by the individual clubs, and turned his draft over to the printer.

Two Week Job
"I worked on the schedule for two weeks, but it simply is impossible to avoid those big gaps," Harridge said. "For instance, there is a stretch of four successive days on which neither St. Louis nor Cleveland will be playing. There is another of three straight days of inactivity for the White Sox."

Harridge said there probably will be even more idle days after some of the week day games to Sunday double-headers.

"Add to that the fact that we added six open dates by cutting intersectional trips down from four to three and you realize what we are up against," Harridge continued. "The American League wanted to solve the problem by cutting two weeks off the schedule but the National insisted on the full 24-Sunday schedule."

New Attack On Black Market Gasoline Sales

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—(INS)—A double-barreled attack against gasoline black markets was announced today by the Office of Price Administration at Harrisburg.

The district O.P.A. officials said a regulation had been adopted making it illegal to remove ration coupons from the gummed sheets or alter them in any way while another rule authorized the agency to revoke rations of motorists violating tire and gasoline regulations.

"After a proper hearing and a finding that tire or gasoline regulations have been violated," the O.P.A. stated, "officials may not only revoke a gasoline ration but now may prohibit the use of gasoline in the violator's possession."

SKYSCRAPER HIT

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—New York's critical coal shortage hit office workers today in the Woolworth building, for many years tallest building in the world.

Ten of the skyscraper's 24 elevators were shut down temporarily as a coal-conservation measure, to insure sufficient fuel for heating purposes.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Alonso Stagg, football's "coach of the year" today in Chicago denied he will accept a coaching job at Stanford next year. He said he is planning to continue at the College of the Pacific next season.

Seventieth running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby will be staged May 6 at Churchill Downs, according to Frank Manke, sports authority who will have charge of the exploitation for Colonel M. A. Winn.

Jake LaMotta, who holds a two-to-one edge over Fritz Zivic, Pittsburgh's oldest young man, will take on Zivic in Detroit January 14, where Jake's share of 1943 bouts was $75,000.

Bob Higgins, of Penn State, does not believe that booting the ball out of bounds on the kickoff is bad for the game. He believes it a strategic maneuver that should be defended by the coaching fraternity.

Joe Cambria, co-owner of the Springfield, Mass., franchise in the Eastern Baseball league, reported today at Williamsport that Williamsport has the inside track on obtaining the Springfield franchise.

Salem college directors will meet tonight to talk baseball which "dropped" the sport for the duration. However, already the school has a team that played one game and has booked two more.

WORLD'S FUTURE SEEN IN PACIFIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Rep. Maas (R) Minn., declared today that the world's future lies in the Pacific and that America must lay plans now to assume leadership in that territory "without strings and regardless of prior ownership."

Maas, ranking minority member of the House Naval Affairs committee, predicted that the Pacific war will last another three years. He advocated that the United States assume leadership in the Pacific largely on a basis of partnership with China.

"At the same time—the United States must permanently retain the present system of naval and air bases over the entire Pacific regardless of prior ownership and without strings," Maas declared.

STOCKS

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Some Profit-Taking Noted And Has Effect On Market Trend

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The stock market ran into a bit of profit-taking today but weathered it in credible style.

The realizing came after two days of advancing prices during which the industrial average added about 2½ points, a rise which took a large section of the street by surprise.

Losses on the realizing were slight, being rarely more than a half point. No one group was specially affected, with the possible exception of the steels where Bethlehem gave up ½ point and U. S. Steel half a point.

Chrysler was ½ lower in the motors but General Motors was unchanged.

Oils were easier. So were the metals, the utilities, the auto equipments and the aviation.

Civil Service 'Exams' Have Not Been Conducted

One of the problems which will face new officials, as it did former mayors and councilmen, will be the procurement of police and firemen. During the past 10 or more years there has been a tendency to forego civil service rules and name men to temporary positions. In fact, some of them have worked for years as temporary "appointees."

The city years ago frequently named one or two men for 10-day periods but shelved them as soon as civil service eligibles could be procured through tests. Later men appointed through this practice continued on the force through appointments every 10 days.

When the war came on it was said by Council to be difficult to procure policemen and firemen because of the manpower shortage. They also said that the jobs of those who entered the service were to be returned to them after the war.

Whether or not more suitable eligibles for jobs supposed to exist under civil service regulations could be found through an examination is a question. Some of those who passed the test served temporarily but were never appointed to permanent positions. Some left to obtain permanent police jobs in other cities.

ONLY DEAD JAP GREETS YANKS LANDING ON CAPE

ONE OF THE REASONS why American forces landing on Cape Gloucester, New Britain, suffered no casualties is pictured above. The only Japs left after preparatory bombardment of the enemy positions were as dead as the one shown under this U. S. amphibious tank as it rolled up on the beach to start drive inland. PLANE CRASH IN LOS ANGELES STREET KILLS THREE

TWO FLIERS and a war worker met their death when this Army cargo plane overshot the runway at an airport near Los Angeles and plummeted into three homes and a parked car. One of those killed was Louis E. Westphalen, 23, a war worker, who had just parked his car in front of his home when the plane smashed into it. The other victims were Capt. C. H. Smoot of Dallas, Texas, the pilot, and Lt. Milton Steuer of New York, co-pilot. The telephone pole (right) was hit by the plane. (International Soundphoto)

IT'S JAIL for this deer, but for protection, not because of any wrongdoing. Police Sgt. John B. DICK TRACY

Says Poland Wants Friendly Russia AUTHORITY OF COURT TO FIX RATES ASSAILED

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish refugee government in London declared all Poland wants to see is a "friendly, strong Russia" as a defense against future Nazi aggression and renewed his pledge of popular elections after his homeland is freed.

Mikolajczyk made his statement in an interview with the official Polish Telegraph Agency only 24 hours after his government has issued a communique in which it announced underground leaders had been instructed to avoid conflict with the Red army, new across the pre-1939 frontier.

Mikolajczyk expressed the wish that a "strong, sincere Anglo-Soviet understanding" be reached and declared that his people hope the United States will continue to show an interest in European affairs.

Revealing that one of the differences between Russians and Poles has concerned the timing of a Polish revolt against the Nazis, the premier explained "The fact that the moment of a general uprising now is at hand will I think remove this difference."

Out Of Coma For Brief Period

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Still clinging to a thin thread of life, Esther Sullivan, 18, was back in a coma today after coming out of it briefly.

She was one of eight involved in a fatal automobile-trolley collision as they returned home from a gay New Year celebration.

Esther flickered her eyelids in response to her sister's appeal.

"Time to get up and go to school," Kathleen Sullivan said, at Esther's hospital bedside.

Esther's hand moved, and she tried to open her eyes. Then she became unconscious again. She is suffering a skull fracture. In the accident an 18-year-old boy companion was killed.

CARS DERAILED

WHEELING, W. Va. Jan. 6.—(INS)—A Baltimore & Ohio Railroad passenger train en route from Pittsburgh to Kenova, W. Va., was derailed by a broken rail at 3 a. in today at Williamstown, W. Va. No one was injured, the railroad reported.

Two coaches, a sleeper and a mail baggage car left the tracks but did not upset. Passengers were taken to Parkersburg by bus, where another train was made up to complete the trip.

The name "pinks" applied to carnations was not given them on account of their color, but from the verb pink to puncture or pierce. The flowers were so named because of the jagged edges of their petals.

Tribute To The Unconquerables Presages Drive

New Castle Store Will Devote Week To Nationwide Tribute To Heroism Of Small Nations

IS PRELUDE TO FOURTH WAR LOAN

As a prelude to the Fourth War Loan, the New Castle Store of this city will join with 280 other of the nation's leading department stores in a tremendous gesture sponsored by the Saturday Evening Post in a "Tribute To The Unconquerables." One entire week will be devoted to the project locally, when every citizen of the New Castle district will have an opportunity to express his feelings in praise of the unyielding spirit of the submerged peoples of Europe in the face of the Nazi-inflicted sufferings and privation. This will take the form of a nationwide war bond drive which will be held all of next week in honor of ten occupied nations.

Based on Joseph Auslander's poems "Open Letters To The Unconquerables," which recently appeared editorially in the Saturday Evening Post, and which have since been published in book form, this war bond drive is intended to honor the courageous peoples of Greece, Czechoslovakia, the Netherlands, Poland, Norway, France, Belgium, Yugoslavia, Luxembourg, and Denmark. The ambassadors and other official representatives of the ten governments have publicly expressed their appreciation of this tribute.

Six windows will be devoted to displays by the New Castle Store for one full week, beginning January 10. Inside the store, there will be a booth, where the citizens of the New Castle community can subscribe to these war loan bonds.

Monday, January 10, will be Greek Day; Tuesday, Czechoslovakian Day; Wednesday will honor the Dutch (Netherlands); Thursday will be Polish Day; Friday, Norwegian Day; and Saturday, January 15, the concluding day will be Unconquerables Day.

Store employees will join in the campaign to roll up heavy advance sales of war bonds and stamps for crediting to the Fourth War Loan quota for New Castle.

In announcing New Castle's participation in the national "Tribute to the Unconquerables," John W. Staudinger and Harry W. Roemer, managers of the New Castle Store, voiced their enthusiasm for the unselfish character of the drive.

"All of us have been appalled at the savagery let loose among the enslaved lands," they stated. "All of us have admired the stark courage of the oppressed peoples in fighting the Nazis through underground organizations and programs of sabotage. While our own government is doing everything possible to rescue our unfortunate allies, we think that every American here at home has been wishing for some tangible means of showing his or her personal respect and sympathy, which they can do by subscribing during this week of tribute."

Magnificent reproductions in color, suitable for framing, of Auslander's own letters to these various "Unconquerables," will be given to each purchaser of a U. S. War Bond at the store during this week of tribute.

HEN FACES THE LIGHT WHEN SHE SCRATCHES

Why do hens scratch the litter toward the back of the house? That is a question poultrymen often ask. When a hen scratches she faces the light. With windows on only one side of the house, the hens scratch the litter in only one direction. With one or more windows in the back, usually on the north side, the hens will scratch both ways and tend to distribute the litter over the floor.

Hens make more efficient use of the floor space when there is a good distribution of light over the entire floor space. Furthermore, these windows can be opened to provide better summer ventilation. It is a good rule to have one window in the back of the house for each 10 linear feet of floor space.

HOLIDAY PLANTS CAN BE ENJOYED LONGER PERIOD

Gift plants received during the holidays, if watered daily and kept in a humid room, should thrive for several weeks. Those which are mismanaged will soon drop their flowers and leaves, and the plants will die. Some of the most popular gift plants are poinsettias, Jerusalem cherries, cyclamens, and Christmas begonias.

The poinsettia proved to be one of the most popular Christmas gift plants this year. The most popular shade was of flaming red leaves on bracts clustered around the flower. Other shades were pink and white leaves.

Leaves will be retained on the plant as long as it is kept in a warm and humid atmosphere, explains A. O. Rasmussen, extension ornamental horticulturist of the Pennsylvania State College. The plants should be thoroughly wet down each day. Do not allow water to touch the leaves and make certain no drafts reach the plant.

After the flowers have faded and the colored bracts have fallen, remove the plant to a cellar where it can be kept at a temperature of 45 to 55 degrees to dry out until late spring when the stem should begin to show signs of growth. Remove the plant carefully from the pot, wash the soil from the roots, and repot in a pot large enough to avoid crowding of the roots. When repotted, cut the plant back to within 3 or 4 inches of the soil.

Keep the poinsettia in a fairly warm, light place and water moderately until growth starts. Never allow the plant to become extremely wet. When warm weather comes, set the pot in a flower border where the plant will not be crowded. Keep watered and growing during the summer. About the middle of August take the plant indoors and keep in a light, well-ventilated place with a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees. When the blooming period approaches, give the plant one or two waterings with liquid manure water about the color of weakened tea.

Jerusalem cherries, although not so plentiful this year, were still used as Christmas gifts. The fruit may drop, but careful syringing of the fruit. The plant does best in a cool room with a temperature of 60 degrees. The seeds may be saved, dried, and used for production of new plants the following year.

The cyclamen requires a fairly cool room with plenty of fresh air and special attention given to watering. Make certain that no water remains in the crown to rot the bases of flower shoots and leaves. A night temperature of 50 degrees is essential if one desires to keep cyclamen in good condition.

Care of the Christmas or winter-flowering begonia is relatively easy. Begonias require plenty of sunlight, a warm, humid atmosphere, and daily watering.

TO TRAIN TESTERS

A short course for training testers for dairy herd improvement associations will be given by the Pennsylvania State College January 26 to February 9. CHECK STORAGE SPACE NOW FOR CHILD'S TOYS

Now is a good time to look over the child's play corner to see if there is room for him to keep all his toys, both new and old.

Children are satisfied to have their toys scattered around, but for safety's sake and also to keep rooms neat and orderly parents want children to keep their toys picked up. This is possible and easy when a place has been provided where the child can put his toys himself.

A storage space made up of shelves and cubby holes has many advantages over using a box or basket for toys. The bright paint soon comes off if toys are jumbled together in a box and often toys are broken. When toys are all in a box, the child cannot see what he wants nor get it easily. This tends to make a child reluctant to put his toys away. Picking up toys may become an irksome task if so many things must be handled every day.

Toys soon lose their attractiveness to a child if he always sees them in a jumble in a box instead of displayed on a shelf. The child becomes dissatisfied and wants other toys instead of the ones he already has. Shelves for toys can be made easily from orange or apple boxes, with ends nailed in to make extra shelves. These boxes may be joined together to make a storage space large enough to take care of all the toys. Another possibility is to use scrap lumber to make properly spaced shelves and cubby holes. Whatever is used for storage space should be lightweight and easy for the child to reach.

ASK TRIAL DELAY
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(IN-5)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation today filed a motion asking for a postponement of the trial against the company on charges of furnishing sub-standard steel to various government agencies.

Hearing of the charges on February 7, the corporation maintained, would curtail operations and interfere with steel production. The trial would last at least four weeks, the corporation attorneys pointed out, and would oblige the attendance of many technically-trained employees. Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker reserved decision.
